Quilting Queen

A queen from a quiet land wanted to learn how to quilt. So the royal quilter taught the queen how to cut fabric into squares, how to thread the needle, and how to poke it through the fabric. She even showed the queen some fancy quilt stitches.

Soon, it was the queen's turn to quilt. Her fingers quivered as she set to work. She did everything just as the royal quilter taught her. The queen was sure that she would make quite the perfect quilt.

After quilting all day, the queen finally finished. She stepped back to look at her work. "Oh my!" said the queen, and she began to quake. "The stitches in my quilt are crooked. The squares go this crazy way and that crazy way. My quilt isn't perfect." At that, she dropped onto her throne and sobbed, "I quit!" With the quilt in her lap, the queen cried herself to sleep.

Shortly, the royal quilter stopped by to see the queen. She quietly took the quilt from the sleeping queen's lap and held it up.

"Oh! Look at the queen's quilt!" exclaimed the quilter. "The stitches are so perfectly crooked. And the squares are perfectly sewn in this crazy way and that crazy way. This is quite a quilt!"

The queen heard the royal quilter's words. She jumped up from her throne and began to dance around. She was quite a quilter! She didn't need to quit! From that day on, the queen quilted happily ever after.

Ideas and Activities for the Letter:

Quack

Have the children quack like ducks as a transition activity.

Quart

Add quart containers and plastic bottles to the water or sand table to fill and pour.

Quarter

Have the children do quarter rubbings. Tape quarters onto a piece of cardboard. Cover the quarters with tracing paper. Demonstrate how to rub the side of a crayon over the paper to expose the quarters. Quarters can also be pressed into play dough to make impressions. Sort the new state quarter coins and discuss the pictures on the quarters.

Queen

Add "queen" type clothes and costumes to the Dramatic Play Center (crowns, scarves, frilly dresses, high heeled shoes, etc.).

Queen Anne's Lace

Add the wild flower Queen Anne's Lace to the Art and Crafts Center. Use the flowers to make several art projects.

Quiche

Help the children make and eat a simple quiche. You will need: one refrigerated pie dough circle, 6 to 8 eggs, diced up ham or vegetables, grated cheese, salt, pepper, and milk. Place the pie dough circle (crust) into a pie pan. Beat the eggs and combine all ingredients before pouring the mixture into the crust. Bake the quiche at 400 degrees until the mixture is firm.

Quiet

Talk about quiet time. What should everyone be doing during quiet time? (Resting/napping, looking at a book, whispering, listening to soft music) Why do we need a quiet time each day? (To rest, for good health) What types of things help us relax and enjoy quiet time? (Soft music, a blanket or stuffed animal, a mat or soft place to lie down)

Quilt

Make a classroom quilt. Show the children a real quilt and point out the pieces and shapes used to put together the pattern of the quilt. Give each child a 6 inch square of construction paper. Provide a variety of shaped pieces of construction paper, markers, and glue. Ask each child to make a "quilt" square to add to the classroom quilt. Have each child write his or her name on the front of their square. Arrange the quilt squares into a pattern and display it on a bulletin board.
